Waterperry
Gardening School

Come and grow with us at The Waterperry Gardening School

Waterperry's educational links date back to the 1930s, when Beatrix Havergal set up her Ladies Gardening School. Passionate about plants and teaching, she inspired hundreds of women to follow careers in practical and ornamental gardening right up until the school closed in 1972.

Since then the name Waterperry has become synonymous with quality, both in the plants we grow, the products we sell, the knowledge of our staff and the high standard of our gardening courses.

Enrolling on a Waterperry Gardening School course enables you to spend time with some of our top horticulturalists, as well as the opportunity to soak up the atmosphere at one of Oxfordshire's most beautiful and relaxed settings.

Whether you are taking your first steps on the road to a new career, want to brush up on existing skills or are learning about gardening for the first time, our courses offer a unique learning environment in a setting steeped in gardening history.

Visit our website for more information about our courses. We look forward to welcoming you to the Waterperry Gardening School.

RBGE Certificate in Practical Horticulture

Annette Pursey and Louie Allen

The Royal Botanic Garden Edinburgh (RBGE) Certificate in Practical Horticulture (CPH) is a unique course that focuses on the essential skills needed by budding horticulturalists today.

The course has been designed to give students a solid grounding in horticultural techniques, learning key skills, with the essential theory behind the practice explained. The importance and quality of this course has been recognised by the endorsement of Botanic Gardens Conservation International (BGCI) and the support of The Stanley Smith (UK) Horticultural Trust.

As well as being delivered at Waterperry Gardens and RBGE, the course is being taught in partner organisations in the UK (e.g. The Eden Project, Cornwall) and abroad (e.g. Nezahat Gökyigit Botanic Garden, Istanbul and the Oman Botanic Garden, Muscat). To ensure that quality and standards are maintained worldwide, RBGE administers the assessment, qualification and verification guidelines.

The RBGE Certificate in Practical Horticulture course consists of eight full-day taught units plus a revision and an assessment day. The units consist of: Looking at Plants; Soil care; Feeding and Watering; Seed Propagation; Vegetative Propagation; Growing Media and Potting; Planting; Pruning and Training.

For full details please download the Applicants' Handbook on-line.

Dates and times:

Two learning options are offered

Please note that for those wishing to reinforce their theoretical studies at RHS Level 2, the Thursday class dates fit in between the theory class dates.

RHS Level 2 Certificate in the Principles of Horticulture

Annette Pursey and Louie Allen

This is the perfect theory course for anyone starting off on a career in horticulture or for amateurs keen to find out how to improve all aspects of their gardening. Although mainly classroom based, your tutor will use the wonderful learning environment at Waterperry, including the ornamental gardens, to give students more information about the subjects covered. The RHS Level 2 gives both professionals and amateurs an excellent all-round knowledge of horticulture.

During the course you will study: plant structure, growth and reproduction; soil; elements of garden design; machinery and equipment; gardening for ornamentals, vegetables, fruit and lawns; weeds, pests, diseases and disorders.

Please download the syllabus for this course at www.rhs.org.uk for more detailed information. Optional examinations take place in February and June 2017.

Half term dates for all RHS courses fall in the weeks of 24th October 2016, 13th February and 29th May 2017.

Two learning options are offered

Code: RHS2Th16

RHS Level 3 Certificate in the Principles of Plant Growth, Health and Applied Propagation

Annette Pursey and Louie Allen

This prestigious qualification involves studying subjects at greater depth and with more independent work than for RHS Level 2. A pass at Level 2 (or the equivalent) is therefore recommended before students start Level 3 study.

Areas to be studied include: plant taxonomy, structure and function; the root environment, plant nutrition and growing systems; plant health and propagation. Please see the RHS website for syllabus details.

Dates and times:

Tuesdays for 21 weeks between 6th September 2016 and 23rd May 2017. Please see exact days on-line. 10am – 3.30pm

Fee: £795. Excludes RHS exam fees.
